The Periodic Review Board, by consensus, determined that continued law of war detention of the detainee remains necessary to protect against a continuing significant threat to the national security of the United States.

In making this determination, the Board considered the detainee's extensive and lengthy history with al-Qaeda, to include leadership roles and being a trusted advisor.

The Board's inability to assess the detainee's current mindset and level of threat due to the detainee's decision not to participate in the Periodic Review Board process.
