The Periodic Review Board, by consensus, determined continued law of war detention of the detainee remains necessary to protect against a continuing significant threat to the security of the United States.

In making this determination, the Board considered the detainee's history of fighting on the frontlines in a Taliban unit, including possibly serving in a low-level leadership role and possibly receiving extremist training. The Board appreciates that the detainee initially engaged with his representatives to participate in the process but had insufficient information on the detainee's family and the support they are prepared to provide him upon his return as well as the detainee's skills and employment prospects. The Board noted inconsistencies regarding the detainee's behavior while in detention and a lack of clarity regarding threatening anti-US statements made by the detainee in the past. The Board had difficulty assessing the detainee's credibility due to his decision not to participate in the hearing and looks forward to reviewing the detainee's file in six months. The Board encourages the detainee to fully participate in any future review.
