Salem Ahmad Hadi Bin Kanad (YM-131)—a Yemeni who fought for the Taliban and possibly received training from al-Qa'ida—since January 2014 has continued to incur few disciplinary infractions relative to other Guantanamo detainees. YM-131 has praised terrorist groups and activities, suggesting he retains an extremist mindset. Neither YM-131 nor his relatives in Saudi Arabia or Yemen have known ties to extremists, although AQAP maintains a significant presence in his purported home region of Hadramawt, Yemen.
