The Periodic Review Board, by consensus, determined that continued law of war detention of the detainee remains necessary to protect against a continuing significant threat to the security of the United States.

In making this determination, the Board considered the detainee's past involvement in terrorist activity to include selection by senior al Qaida leaders to receive training on the manufacture of remote controlled improvised explosive devices and attending meetings with senior al Qaida leaders where they may have discussed attacks against the United States.

Prior and recent statements expressing support for extremist views and attacking the United States.

Refusal to engage with his Personal Representative in preparation for the Board's questions or provide materials in advance of the hearing prevented the Board from gaining insight into his current mindset.

Non-responsive answers to questions about past involvement with al Qaida.

The Board encourages the detainee to engage with his Personal Representative and prepare for future reviews and more directly answer questions in future hearings.
